9 Reading

Before Reading

What do you know about twins? Have you ever met any?

You Look Just Like Me!

"Hi, Eddy. We're going to be in math class together again this semester, aren't we?"
"Sorry. I'm not Eddy."

"Nice to see you again, Bobby."
"Sorry. I don't know you."
"You're Bobby, aren't you?"
"No, I am not. I'm Eddy."

This is the story of an amazing coincidence. Three brothers—triplets—met for the first time at the age of 19.

Bobby Shafran started a new semester at Sullivan Community College in New York. The previous semester Eddy Galland was a student there. The two teens looked exactly alike. Another student confused Bobby with Eddy, and then he realized that the boys were probably brothers. That student introduced Bobby to Eddy. The two boys found out that they were in fact twins, born at the same time. The boys were orphans and grew up in two different families. The families didn't know that their baby boys had brothers. But even more amazing was this. After the story was in the newspapers, another boy, named David Kellman, realized that he was their brother, too—also born at the same time. So the twins became triplets!

There are many touching stories of orphans who meet for the first time as adults. Another well-known story of twins is that of Daphne Goodship and Barbara Herbert. They met for the first time at the age of 39. When they met, each was wearing a beige dress and a brown jacket. Blue was their favorite color. They both liked their coffee cold and black. Well, perhaps, that isn't very surprising, is it? But how about these similarities? They both fell down some stairs at the age of 15, and later they had problems with their ankles. They both used the same recipe book and sometimes cooked the same meal on the same day. And to scientists who studied them, they had similar personalities: they were talkative, and they laughed a lot. Because of this, they were called the "Giggle" twins.

Scientists like to study such cases of twins. They want to answer the classic question, "What's more important—heredity or environment?" Studies with twins like the Giggle twins seem to make a case for heredity, don't they? The twins grew up in different environments, but still the twins are very similar in many ways. But are all the similarities just coincidences? What do you think?

After Reading

A. Answer the questions about the reading.

1. How did Bobby and Eddy first meet?
2. What happened when one brother read the newspaper?
3. How were the Giggle twins similar?
4. Why were they called the Giggle twins?

B. Match the following words in the reading with their definitions.

- | | |
|-------------------|--|
| 1. __ coincidence | a. three children born at the same time |
| 2. __ confuse | b. think wrongly that a person is someone else |
| 3. __ orphan | c. a situation in which two things happen together by chance |
| 4. __ heredity | d. a child who has lost his parents |
| 5. __ triplets | e. what you get from your parents |
| 6. __ touching | f. having a strong emotional effect |

C. Role-play an interview with one set of twins/triplets in the article. Work in small groups, and take turns being “twins” or “triplets” and interviewers. Present your interviews to the class.

Discussion

1. What do you think that cases like the Giggle twins show?
2. What do you think is more important in people’s personalities, heredity or environment? Can you give any examples? Think about your own family and people you know.

11 Writing

- A. Read about a coincidence. Number the paragraphs and the sentence in the correct order.

- One afternoon, I was walking around the campus looking for a place to eat lunch when suddenly I heard someone call my name. I turned around. "You're Sean, aren't you?" said a familiar voice.
- The three of us went for lunch that afternoon, and Mike and I did a lot of catching up. Since then, I hang out with him and Lee almost every day.
- I arrived here in Chicago two months ago as an exchange student. During my first week at the college, everything was still a bit confusing. I felt lonely most of the time. Sure, I had met a few students in my classes, but I hadn't made any friends yet.
- "Mike, what are you doing here in Chicago?"
- It took me a second to realize who it was. To my surprise, it was my cousin, Mike. I hadn't seen him in five years because his family had moved to the U.S. He was with Lee, a student in one of my classes.
- "Well, I live in Chicago and I'm studying economics here at the college. When Lee told me there was an Irish student in one of his classes, I had no idea it was you! What a small world!"

Writing Corner

1. Use simple past to talk about completed past events.
Suddenly I heard someone call my name. I turned around.
 2. Use the past progressive* (was/were + verb-ing) to talk about actions that were in progress when another past event happened.
I was walking around the campus when suddenly I heard someone call my name.
 3. Use the past perfect* (had + past participle*) to talk about an action that happened before another action in the past.
I hadn't seen him in five years because his family had moved to the United States.
- * You will practice the past progressive in Unit 3 and the past perfect in Unit 6.
 See a list of irregular verbs and past participles on page 82.

- B. Look at the writing task in C. Before you write, take notes in the event chain diagram.

- C. Write about a strange coincidence or chance meeting. Here are some examples for ideas.

1. I have a big family, and I don't know them all. One day when I was in a café...
2. I was taking a summer English course in London. A student sat next to me in class, and we started a conversation. The student mentioned...

Father: George, I want you to drive slowly and carefully, and put on your seat belt. We have plenty of time.

George: What time is your flight, Dad?

Father: At 6:00 P.M.

George: That's in three hours! You have two extra hours. The trip to the airport is less than an hour.

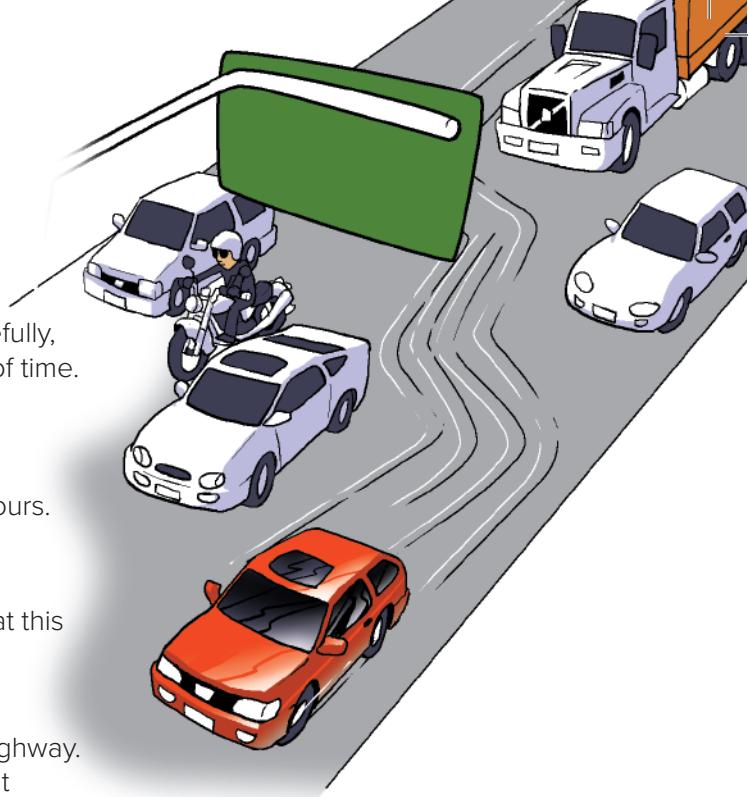

Father: You should always arrive at least two hours before departure. We might run into traffic at this time of day. Why are we taking this road?

George: Because it's quicker.

Father: You can't be serious! You should use the highway. It's faster because it's more direct. Turn right at the next traffic light. Hey, don't go so fast. Slow down!

9 Reading

Before Reading

1. On which side of the road do people drive in your country?
2. On which side of the road do people usually walk?

Why must you drive on the right side of the road in some countries and on the left side of the road in other countries? Investigate the question, and you find a lot of confusion on right versus left. About a quarter of the world drives on the left, and most of those countries used to be British colonies. In England people drive on the left, but on escalators they stand on the right, so that people who are in a hurry can go up on the left. In Japan, they drive on the left, too, but people usually stand on the left on escalators.

There are different explanations for the use of right versus left. Some people believe that it is a natural tendency to walk or drive on the right. This is because most people are right-handed.

We can look back in history for reasons people move on the right or left of the road. Some people say that in Europe hundreds of years ago, people rode their horses on the left. This way, their sword was between them and anyone who was coming toward them in the opposite direction. They were ready to pull out their sword and fight to defend themselves with their right arm. There is also evidence that ancient Greek, Egyptian, and Roman troops used to march on the left side. And in Rome, they made it a law in the 1300s. So when and why did the right side become popular?

One idea is that in the 1700s, people in France and in the United States started to use wagons with several pairs of horses and to drive on the right side of the road. It was easier for the drivers to sit on the left and control the horses with a whip in the right hand, and it was safer if other vehicles passed on the left so the drivers could see the distance between vehicles. Some people say that in England, people always drove on the left, and in France, people always drove on the right.

In any case, Napoleon, a ruler of France, ordered people to drive on the right side in the early 1800s. France conquered many countries at that time, and so these countries drove on the right. But France didn't conquer England, so England kept its custom of driving on the left.

In the twentieth century, there was a trend to the right. Many cars were made in the United States, and they were made for driving on the right side of the road. As recently as 1967, Sweden changed its laws. Now people in Sweden must drive on the right.

So right or left? Just follow the customs of the country where you are—and be sure to drive carefully on that side!

Simple Ideas, BIG Results

Muhammed Yunus, Nobel Peace Prize Winner

Muhammed Yunus, often called “the world’s banker to the poor,” received the Nobel Peace Prize in 2006 for his pioneering work against poverty. Yunus said he would use the $1.35 million prize money to “find more innovative ways” to help the poor.

Yunus founded the Grameen Bank in 1976 with just $27 from his own pocket. The idea 5 came to him while he was teaching economics at Chittagong University in southern Bangladesh, which is one of the poorest nations in the world. He and his students started an experimental project: They lent poor people small amounts of money. The people used the money for their own small businesses; for example, to buy straw to make stools. Until then, the local people relied on local moneylenders who were not 10 always fair.

Since then, the Grameen Bank model has been duplicated in more than 100 countries. Today, the bank has 6.61 million borrowers and over 2,400 branches in over 80,000 villages in Bangladesh. Recently the bank started a program to give poor people a loan of about $9 to purchase small items such as bread, candy, pickles, and toys. Receivers of the loans then resell the goods to supplement their income. The bank reports that it has lent 15 $6.55 billion over the past 30 years and claims a high repayment rate—98 percent. Nowadays Grameen Banks are also in developed countries. One hundred people in Queens, New York, were among the first borrowers of Grameen America. The total number of borrowers worldwide is 7.84 million.

Mohammed Abdul Latif Jameel, Businessman and Philanthropist

Mohammed Abdul Latif Jameel has received many awards for his humanitarian work to solve the crisis of poverty around the world. In 2012, he was named “Saudi Volunteer 20 of the Year” for establishing job creation programs in Saudi Arabia and the Middle East. Unemployment is the main cause of poverty, and Jameel realizes that governments need the support of businesses to solve the problem. Jameel says, “My father taught me an important lesson in running a business: never to forget that life is not just about you—it is about what you can do for others.”

25 Jameel studied at MIT where he joined the Poverty Action Lab. In 2005, he made a huge donation to the organization, and it was renamed J-PAL in honor of his father, Abdul Latif Jameel. J-PAL is a group of expert researchers whose mission is to reduce poverty in the world by finding scientifically-based solutions. In Saudi Arabia, he established the Abdul Latif Jameel Community Initiatives program (ALJCI). One project of ALJCI is Bab Rizq Jameel (BRJ), which focuses on creating job opportunities. Between 2003 and 2012, BRJ created more than 230,000 jobs in 30 the Kingdom and over 300,000 in the Middle East. ALJCI also supports projects in business financing, education and training, health, and art and culture.

What do you know about aptitude tests and IQ tests? Have you ever taken one?

APTITUDE AND IQ: WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

Aptitude Tests

Nowadays, millions of people—young and old—use aptitude tests to help them decide on a career path or a career change. Many employers also find them useful in their selection of new employees. Aptitude tests can be particularly beneficial for high school students who are uncertain about what career path they should follow.

Very few adolescents have a clear idea of what they want to do when they grow up. They often don't know where to begin searching for a job, let alone realize the vast number of career options that are available. Career

What is aptitude? First, aptitude should not be confused with academic knowledge, skills, personal interests, or intelligence. Aptitudes are natural talents—special abilities for learning to do certain tasks quickly and easily. Skills and knowledge are learned, but aptitude is something you are born with. For example, an accountant who has learned the skills for the job, but has an aptitude for something else will probably find his work unrewarding and difficult. On the other hand, someone who knows nothing about accounting may have the aptitude to learn the necessary skills quickly and easily.

A career aptitude test determines someone's strengths, weaknesses, and natural ability to perform and succeed in certain professions. Common areas of testing are: logical reasoning, mathematical ability, mechanical understanding, spatial awareness, and communication. The results are best when combined with interest and personality tests to assess what types of work a person would most likely enjoy and perform well.

IQ Tests

IQ stands for Intelligence Quotient. The typical IQ test produces a score that compares the test taker's cognitive ability to the general population. A score between 90 and 110 is average, and a score over 130 shows exceptional intelligence—a genius. So what exactly does an IQ test measure? More simply, it assesses the ability to understand concepts and solve different types of problems using logic. This includes spatial ability, mathematical reasoning, language ability, and memory. A sample math question might be: "Ben bought three books for $5 each with a 20% discount. How much did he pay?"

IQ tests, however, are not particularly useful in career planning. Two people with the same IQ may have very different aptitudes. Occupations of famous people with high IQs include authors, journalists, businessmen, scientists, inventors, computer specialists, lawyers, cartoonists, actors, boxing champions, and race car drivers.

Adel: What are you doing on the weekend?

Faisal: My plans are still up in the air.

Sometimes there's nothing interesting to do, but this weekend I have three good choices.

I don't know which one to do.

Adel: What are the three things? I might be able to help you make up your mind.

Faisal: OK. First, Fahd has just graduated from college, and he's invited me to dinner. If I don't go to Fahd's graduation, he's going to be very hurt. I'm one of his closest friends, you know. Second, Khalid invited me to spend the weekend at his family's house at the beach. Third, the airshow is taking place, and Tariq asked me to go with him this weekend.

Adel: What's your preference?

Faisal: I'd much rather go to the airshow. If I don't go this weekend, I may not get another chance to see it.

Adel: It seems to me, you should do what you feel like doing. If you go to the airshow, explain to Fahd and Khalid why you're going. I'm sure they'll understand.

THE RIGHT CHOICE

The story goes that in the fifteenth century, in a tiny village near Nuremberg, Germany, lived a family with 18 children. In order to keep food on the table for his large family, the father—a goldsmith by profession—worked almost 18 hours a day.

Despite their hopeless situation, two of the Dürers' elder children had a dream. They both wanted to pursue their talent for art, but they knew full well that their father could never afford to send either of them to Nuremberg to study at the academy.

After many long discussions, the two boys finally worked out a pact. Albert said, "I'll go down in the mines. With my earnings, I'll support you while you attend the academy for four years. When you complete your studies, you'll support me, either with the sales of your artwork or, if necessary, also by working in the mines."

His brother Albrecht agreed and went off to Nuremberg to study art at the academy. Meanwhile, Albert went down into the dangerous mines and, for the next four years, financed his brother, whose work at the academy was almost an immediate sensation. Albrecht's etchings, his woodcuts, and his oils were far better than those of most of his professors, and by the time he graduated, he was beginning to earn high fees for his works.

When the young artist returned to his village, the Dürer family held a festive dinner to celebrate Albrecht's triumphant homecoming. After a long and memorable meal, Albrecht rose at the head of the table to thank his beloved brother for the years of support that had allowed Albrecht to fulfill his ambition. His closing words were, "And now, Albert, blessed brother of mine, it is your turn. Now you can go to Nuremberg to pursue your dream, and I will take care of you."

All heads turned to the far end of the table where Albert sat, tears streaming down his pale face, shaking his lowered head from side to side while he sobbed and repeated, over and over, "No... no... no... no."

Finally, Albert rose, wiped the tears from his cheeks and said, "No, brother. I cannot go to Nuremberg. It is too late for me. Look what four years in the mines have done to my hands! The bones in every finger have been smashed, and lately I have been suffering from arthritis so badly in my right hand that I cannot make delicate lines on parchment or canvas with a pen or a brush. No, brother, for me it is too late."

In order to show his gratitude to Albert, Albrecht Dürer drew his brother's abused hands with palms together and thin fingers stretched skyward. He called his powerful drawing simply Hands, and the entire world almost immediately opened their hearts to his great masterpiece.

Note: Albrecht Dürer is a famous artist, but there is no historical confirmation for this inspiring story, which appears to have been recently invented.

5 Making Choices

11 Writing

I won't risk failing again!

- A. Read the article about making choices. Circle the gerunds.

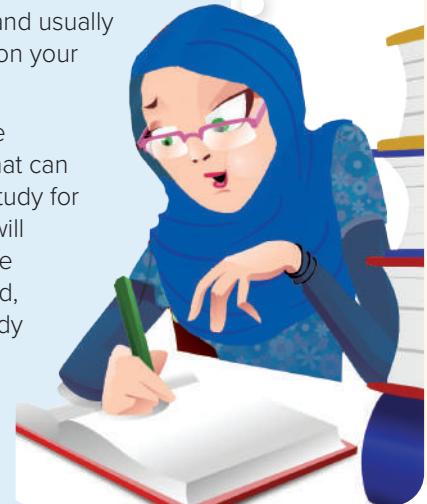

Making Choices

Your life is a result of the choices you make. Some everyday choices are simple and usually have very little impact on your life, while others can have serious consequences on your future.

Deciding what to wear or what to eat for lunch, for example, is usually of very little consequence. If you choose not to wear a jacket on a cold day, the worst thing that can happen is that you may come down with a cold for a few days. Choosing not to study for a test, however, could have more serious consequences. If you don't study, you will probably get a low grade or fail the test. Yet, sometimes making "bad" choices like these can help you learn to make "good" ones in the future. The next time it's cold, you will consider wearing a jacket. And the next time you have a test, you will study hard so that you won't end up failing.

But life also has more important choices to make, such as deciding on a career to follow or which university to attend. Making decisions like these is often difficult, so it's important to think about them carefully. One way to do this is to make a list of the positive and negative aspects before deciding. After comparing them, the right choice may seem clear. Another thing you can do is ask someone that you trust for advice. An older member of the family or a teacher who has had more life experience will be able to guide you in the right direction.

Remember that you are responsible for making choices, whether they are "good" or "bad." If you realize that a choice you have made is wrong, then it's up to you to decide how to make it right.

1 Listen and Discuss

Which of the following customs are similar in your country?

When in Rome, Do as the Romans Do

When you are visiting a new place, you should try to act as the local people do. Here are some tips.

In Mediterranean Countries ▲

Eating dinner late is a common custom in Mediterranean countries such as Italy, Greece, and Spain. No one goes out for a meal before 9 P.M., and most restaurants stay open past midnight. It is also common for people in these countries to take an afternoon break. Many stores close for 3 hours in the afternoon, allowing workers to eat with their family, rest, and return to work relaxed.

In England ▲

In England, it's customary to say "please," "thank you," "excuse me," and "sorry." It's polite to say "excuse me" if someone is blocking your way, and "sorry" if you accidentally bump into someone. And remember to stand in line (or as the British say, "queue up") and wait your turn patiently. It's a good idea to talk about the weather, a favorite topic of conversation with the British.

In Japan ▲

In Japan, be prepared to exchange personal or business cards. When a person gives you a card, don't put it in your pocket right away. The person expects you to read it and even comment on it. It is impolite not to do so.

◀ In Asian Countries

In many Asian countries, people eat with chopsticks. It's not polite to play with chopsticks or to cut and spear food with them. It's rude to leave them standing up in a bowl of rice. When not using your chopsticks, place them on the chopsticks holder. If you can't manage to eat with them, it's advisable to ask for a spoon or a fork.

In Mexico

In Mexico, all university graduates have a title, and they usually expect you to use it. Don't forget to call a university graduate, such as a lawyer or an engineer Licenciado.

4. _____ Be sure to carry business cards with you in Japan.
5. _____ Remember not to be late for an appointment in Germany.
6. _____ You should always remember to tip in China.

In India

Removing shoes before entering a home is customary in India. In fact, it is common practice in many parts of the world. Try not to spread dust and mud in the house and on the carpets of your host.

In the United States and China

In the United States, remember to make sure you tip porters, taxi drivers, and waiters. Waiters expect to get a tip that is 15 percent of the cost of your meal. China is one of those wonderful countries where tipping is not practiced, and almost no one asks for tips.

In Germany

Being punctual is important to Germans. For business meetings it is a good idea to arrive a few minutes early. Hosts also expect their guests to be on time. Being late or rushing makes a bad impression.

There's a lot of traffic, crowded subways and buses, tall skyscrapers, and modern shopping malls just like in other large cities around the world.

Will: Have any differences struck you?

Edgar: Well, the food is very different, and eating with chopsticks was tricky at first, especially rice and noodles. But I got the hang of it.

Will: What about the language?

Edgar: Most of the people I work with speak English well. I'm still learning Chinese to handle everyday situations.

Will: Is there anything else you're not used to yet?

Edgar: No, I've adjusted to the way of life. However, there's still one thing that's kind of weird to me. In China, the family name comes before the first name, and millions of people have the same surname. For example, Wang, Li, Zhang, Chen, and so on are the most common.

9 Reading

Before Reading

What problems do you think people have adapting to a different culture?

A FISH OUT OF WATER

Almost everyone who studies, lives, or works abroad experiences some degree of culture shock. This period of cultural adjustment involves everything from getting used to the food and language to smaller things like learning how to use the telephone. No matter how patient and flexible you are, adjusting to a new culture can sometimes be difficult and frustrating. Some people get depressed, and very homesick. But don't panic—these are all totally normal reactions and you are not alone.

The term culture shock was first used by writer Kalervo Oberg in 1954. He found that all human beings experience the same feelings when they travel to or live in a different country or culture. Oberg identified five distinct stages of culture shock.

1. THE ADJUSTMENT PHASE

This period can last six months or longer. The newcomer is excited about being in a new place and experiencing a new lifestyle. Some problems may occur, but the person usually tends to accept them as part of the adjustment to another country and novelty of being in a new place. People are generally helpful to the newcomer, and that person feels welcome.

2. EMPTINESS OR REJECTION PHASE

The newcomer has to deal with the usual problems of accommodation, transportation, shopping (not finding your favorite foods), and very often not being able to communicate fluently in the local language. The local people may not understand why the newcomer is making such a big deal over what they see as a small problem. At this point, the newcomer starts to complain about, and maybe even reject, the new country.

3. THE CONFORMIST PHASE

Gaining some understanding of the new culture, its ideals, and its values brings a new feeling of pleasure. The crisis is over when the newcomer learns to understand the cultural differences, but hasn't completely adjusted to the new culture.

4. ASSIMILATION PHASE OR COMPLETE ADJUSTMENT

In this phase, the person accepts the food, the habits, and customs of the new country, and may even find some things better than things back home. The newcomer becomes completely adjusted and feels comfortable in the new place. On returning home, the traveler will miss the new friends and the country and will cherish the memories forever.

5. REVERSE CULTURE SHOCK

This is when the person comes back to the home country. The returnee may have been away from home for a long time and gets a "re-entry shock." Many things may have changed, and it will take a while to get used to home again.

After Reading

A. Match the words with the definitions.

2 Reading

Before Reading

Taking a nap is recommended for both religious and health reasons. Do you take a nap in the afternoon?

Do you feel sleepy after a large meal?

TAKING A SIESTA

“Sleep is the golden chain that ties health and our bodies together.” Thomas Dekker

“A good laugh and a long sleep are the best cures in the doctor’s book.” Irish Proverb

“A well spent day brings happy sleep.” Leonardo da Vinci

The idea of taking a siesta—an afternoon nap—and closing business for a few hours during the day is frowned upon by most Americans and Northern Europeans. In their cultures where “time is money,” a sleep break is considered wasteful and unproductive. However, in many Latin, Asian, and Mediterranean cultures, taking a nap and an afternoon break is part of the daily routine.

Since the daytime nap is a custom in Spain, the Spanish word siesta is used to refer to a short rest after the midday meal. Many believe that the original concept of siesta was created to allow people to spend time with their family and friends. Today, it is a common practice in many countries where the weather is warm. The high temperatures, especially in summer, combined with a large meal contribute to a feeling of sleepiness. Still, some colder regions of Latin America practice siesta. In these cases, the tradition seems to be based on cultural influence rather than climate.

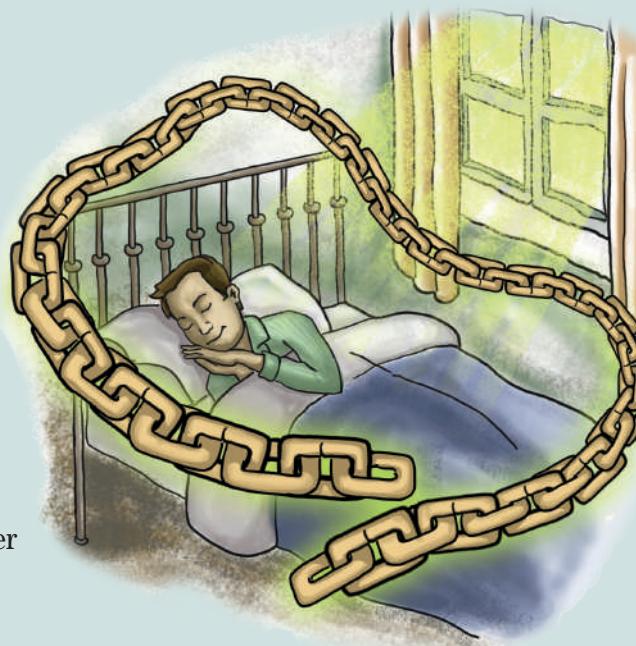

HERE ARE SOME BENEFITS OF SIESTA:

BIOLOGICAL NEED: Some doctors believe that the body is designed to sleep for shorter periods of time rather than in one large dose. Also, the body’s blood sugar levels drop after a big meal, inducing drowsiness. This explains why many people may feel sleepy after lunch.

PROTECTION FROM THE SUN: Siesta takes place when the sun is at its highest point. This is when the temperature is hottest and the sun’s rays are strongest. Avoiding the sun during midday protects people against sunburn, sunstroke, skin cancer, and heat exhaustion.

HEALTH: Studies have shown that people who nap regularly during the week are 37% less likely to suffer from heart disease. Napping helps people relax and reduces their stress levels.

IMPROVED MEMORY: Other research has found that people who took a short nap were able to remember information they learned better than those who did not nap.

Assimilating

Welcome to our country!
We're glad to have you here,
But please respect our rules
And the customs we hold dear.
Our habits may seem different.
Our cuisine may taste strange.
So, if you want to settle in
You'll need to make some change.
Assimilating is the key
To co-exist in harmony.

Chorus

We have our differences
You and I,
But it's all right
If we don't see eye to eye.
There's no reason why,
No, there's no reason why,
We can't get along.
If we respect one another,
Our friendship will be strong,
Our friendship will be strong.

Learning our native language
May seem overwhelming at the start,
But you'll pick it up eventually
So be patient, don't lose heart.

You'll grow to appreciate our people,
Get accustomed to our ways,
And cherish our traditions.
It's all part of the adjustment phase.
Assimilating is the key
To fit into society.

Chorus

H READINGA Special Bond

There is a very special bond—or tie—between identical twins. Of course, identical twins look alike. When they get older, they sometimes even have the same number of wrinkles around their eyes. Most twins also share a special bond, an amazing feeling of closeness with each other. And identical twins behave alike. For example, one pair of twins both walk into the ocean backward and only up to their knees.

For John and William Bloomfield, the special bond went beyond life. The Bloomfield twins did everything together. One night they were eating dinner together at a restaurant. John—or perhaps it was William—had a heart attack and died. His brother immediately had a heart attack and died, too. The medics couldn't save either brother, or even figure out who was John and who was William.

California twins Ronald and Donald Anderson shared a single life. Everyone thought there was only one Mr. Anderson. One day Ronald Anderson robbed a bank. The police were sure that Ronald Anderson was the thief. They saw him running away. There was one problem: When the bank was robbed, Ronald Anderson was already in jail. If he was in jail, he was not the thief. The police were confused. Finally, they found the answer. There were two Anderson brothers—twins! For many years, they pretended to be one person. Donald Anderson was in jail. Ronald Anderson robbed the bank. Now Ronald Anderson is in jail, too.

Answer the questions.

1. What is the special bond between twins?

2. How did John and William Bloomfield die?

3. What was unusual about their deaths?

4. Why did people think that there was only one Mr. Anderson?

5. Who really robbed the bank?

H READINGTeenage Driving

"Colin, you just ran a red light!" Brad shouted from the back seat of the car. "Did I? Sorry! I didn't even see the red light." A few minutes later, Colin saw a stop sign—after he ran it. He was driving over the speed limit. When they got to Mark's house, Colin called his mother. "Mom, we're at Mark's house. Everything is OK. I drove safely."

Teenage driving is sometimes a problem. In the United States, more teenagers die from accidents than from any other cause. There is a higher risk of accidents with 16-year-old drivers than with 17- and 18-year-old drivers. Also, when teens drive with other people in the car, they have accidents more often than when they're driving alone.

What is the reason for the teenage driving problem? Are teens reckless and dangerous drivers? Some people say teenagers are too young to drive. Other people don't agree. They say that the problem is just that teenagers are new drivers. They just need more practice and experience.

What is the solution to the problem? Some people think the solution is "graduated licensing." Here's what this means: A 16-year-old can get a license, but the license has limits that change over time. For example, at first the 16-year-old must drive with an adult. Then he can drive alone. The 16-year-old must not drive with other teenagers or must not drive at night. When the teenager has more experience, he can have a license with no limits. Some countries are trying graduated licensing, and it seems to be working well.

Answer the questions.

1. Why was Colin driving recklessly on the way to Mark's house?

2. Which of these is less safe than the other—a car with a teenager driving alone or a car with a teenager driving with friends?

3. What are two ideas that people have about why teenage driving is sometimes a problem?

4. What limits does a teenager with a graduated license have at first?

Living with a College Roommate and Enjoying It

Many students go away to college and need accommodation. Apartments are often expensive. For students who have a tight budget, it can be a good idea to share an apartment. Money is not the only reason to have a roommate. Sharing an apartment can be fun.

But life with a roommate can also be a very bad experience. Some sociologists did a study of college students who shared a room. They found that students who had problems with their roommates were not happy at school and got sick more often than other students.

So how can you enjoy living with a roommate? Here is some advice:

- Being roommates with a friend can be hard. Friends who you see once in a while can be different when you live with them all the time. So before you decide to live with a friend, discuss the situation carefully.
- Before you decide to live with someone you don't know, talk to your potential roommate. Be honest about your habits and the things that irritate you.
- When you move in with a roommate, make rules. Decide how you will share the chores. Decide if you will share food. Is it OK to have guests? And what about making noise?
- Don't get angry at small things that your roommate does. Remember that no one—including you—is perfect.

Answer the questions.

1. What happened to the college students who had problems with their roommates?

2. What should you do before you become roommates with a friend?

3. What should you do before you become roommates with someone that you don't know?

4. What are some things you and a roommate should make rules about?

F READINGWho Influences Teens?

The teenage years are a time of life when people must make many important choices. Teenagers need to think about questions like these: Should I go to college? What kind of career do I want? Each person must make his or her own choices. But other people influence our choices. Who influences teens? Teens were asked this question, and here's what they said.

It depends on the kind of choice. When teens buy things, friends are the most important influence. This is especially true for clothes and electronic devices. Television shows, advertisements, and parents also influence teenagers. In more serious matters, parents are probably the most important influence. Some teens say it's best to have parents and friends as influences. One seventeen-year-old girl says, "Parents are able to tell us what's right and wrong because they have experience. And they always want what's best for us."

But teens also feel they need to make their own choices—to make their own mistakes. As one teenage boy said, "If our parents don't let us make our own choices, maybe in the future we won't know how to." And they feel friends can often be a big help, especially because friends sometimes know more about their situation than their parents do. For example, one boy said his friends stopped him from making the wrong decision. He wanted to quit the basketball team because the coach wasn't nice to him. His friends kept saying, "You're a great player. The coach just wants you to try harder." Finally, he saw that they were right. "Thanks to the coach," he says, "I'm a better player than I used to be."

Complete the sentences. Use the information in the text.

1. Teenagers have to make decisions about college and their _____.
2. Teenagers' _____ are the most important influence when they buy things.
3. Teenagers often go to their parents for advice on _____.
4. Many teens think that it is a good idea to make decisions with the help of _____.
5. To some teens, it is OK to sometimes _____ when they make decisions.

They learn this way.

And if he does your chores, you will have more free time this month. However, if you write his report for him, he won't learn anything. Should you write his report? Is there another solution?
2. You are a writer for your school newspaper. You're working on an article about a local water pollution problem. You think that the pollution is from a factory that dumps chemicals into the river, but you aren't 100 percent sure. The pollution might not come from this factory. I READING

Learn to Speak the Language

When you go to another country, you should learn to speak the language. This isn't something you can do with just a dictionary and a grammar book. Allow me to explain.

Words don't always have their literal meaning. When I went to Japan for the first time, I knew that the Japanese word for "yes" is hai. I went to discuss an important business issue. At the end of the meeting, I summarized my plan and asked my Japanese colleague, "Do you agree?" He answered with hai. That night I called my boss and told him that the Japanese company was ready to go ahead with the plan. The next day I had to tell my boss that this wasn't true. It turns out that the Japanese often use hai to mean "I've heard you. I understand."

Gestures are worse than words. They often have a meaning that is very different from the meaning you know. When I was in China, I saw people waving their hands at other people. They waved their hands the way I do when I want to tell someone to go away. But every time a Chinese person did this, the other person came nearer. Finally, a Chinese friend explained that this was the gesture for "come here."

This experience didn't prepare me for the taxi in Bulgaria. When my plane arrived in Sofia, I was tired. So I was happy that a taxi was right there. "OK?" I asked, opening the door. The taxi driver moved his head up and down, so I jumped in. "Downtown, please. OK?" I said. The taxi driver nodded again, but nothing happened. Finally, I became angry and jumped out. Guess what? In Bulgaria moving your head up and down means "no" and shaking your head from side to side means "yes."

Write T for True and F for False.

1. _____ Words sometimes have more than one meaning.
2. _____ In Japanese, hai always means "yes."
3. _____ Waving one's hand in China means "come here."
4. _____ In Bulgaria, nodding the head up and down means "no."
5. _____ Shaking the head from side to side in Bulgaria means "I don't understand."
